

Dear Applicant,

7 October 2020

Thank you for considering a role with Redthread. We are a team of compassionate, collaborative and courageous professionals, committed to empowering young people to change their lives. This clip from BBC News will give you a taster of what we do every day.

This role is part of our Youth Violence Intervention Programme (YVIP) in Birmingham, and will work across three hospital sites – Queen Elizabeth Hospital (QE), Birmingham Children’s Hospital (BCH) and Heartlands Hospital. We are seeking a qualified and registered Counsellor in Birmingham to provide comprehensive psychological assessments and formulations for young people who access Redthread’s services. This role will also provide counselling to some of the young people we work with, and will support the youth work team in developing and delivering a therapeutic and clinically safe environment within the hospital setting. You will work in a multi-disciplinary team and will liaise with a wide range of psychological services both internal and external to the hospitals to ensure young people can access the coordinated psychological input they need.

To do this well you need to be a people person; passionate about supporting young people, and excited at the prospect of working in a fast-paced and busy environment. You need expertise in a wide range of counselling models, and substantial experience of working with vulnerable young people with complex needs. You will have experience of helping young people through crisis and reducing their risk of further harm, while achieving improved emotional health and wellbeing. You will be competent at upskilling and supporting colleagues to assess and support young people with psychological needs.

You will need to feel comfortable and confident working alongside clinical staff, young people, police, parents and a multitude of professionals in the community. You will be a strong communicator, and able to be a compassionate presence for anxious young people who are in crisis, seeking to bring change in their lives. You’ll be keen to keep learning, seizing training opportunities at Redthread and continuously reflecting upon and improving your practice.

In this application pack, you will find a job description with a person specification and the terms and conditions of the post. Please read through the person specification carefully as we will be shortlisting applications using these criteria. Make sure you tell us why you want to work for Redthread in your supporting statement.

You will find a copy of our application form and equalities monitoring form on our website at www.redthread.org.uk/join-the-team/ Please send your completed application form and equalities monitoring form to applications@redthread.org.uk. We will accept applications until 10am on Monday 2nd November 2020. Interviews will be held online from the 9th November 2020, with a second round of interviews for successful candidates within the same week.

We would love to receive a diverse range of applications for this role, and we particularly welcome applications from BAME communities and male applicants.

Kind regards,

YOUTH VIOLENCE INTERVENTION PROGRAMME

Redthread empowers young people to thrive as they navigate the challenging transition to adulthood by integrating trauma-informed youth work into the health sector. Whether a young person has been the victim of a stabbing, is seeking support for anxiety, has suffered a sexual assault, or wants to find a new home beyond the reach of a gang, we support them to overcome the challenges they face through our dynamic youth work programmes.

Every year thousands of young people find themselves in hospital A&E departments as the victim of serious youth violence. Redthread's Youth Violence Intervention Programme (YVIP) embeds youth workers in hospitals to intervene with these young people. The teams meet the young patients as soon as they can: in the A&E waiting room, on the ward, or even in the resuscitation bay. This moment of intense crisis, when the young person is hurt and often alone, can be a catalyst for pursuing positive change – a 'teachable moment'.

Our teams build rapport with young people, and support them to make long-term positive plans. Problems include exclusion from education, employment or training, a lack of stability in housing, and reprimands due to criminal activity. Redthread capitalise on our partnerships to ensure long-term work and change is possible for each young person. The teams make well-judged referrals and ensure transition is smooth. This work disrupts the cycle that leads to devastated communities and an exhausted healthcare and justice system.

We have teams in three of London's four Major Trauma Centres and commission a service in the fourth. In 2018 we launched services in Queen's Medical Centre in Nottingham, in Queen Elizabeth and Heartlands Hospitals in Birmingham, and in Homerton Hospital in Hackney. We are delighted to have expanded our service to UCLH, Croydon, Lewisham and Queen Elizabeth Woolwich Hospitals in London in 2020.

During the lockdown period of the COVID-19 pandemic, our teams worked from home and provided remote support to young people. This change in working pattern gave us an opportunity to reimagine how we deliver our YVIP service in Birmingham, particularly as Heartlands Hospital has needed to focus on supporting COVID-19 patients. We will now have one Birmingham YVIP team, largely based at QE, but working across Heartlands and Birmingham Children's Hospitals as well. This role will work across all three hospitals.

Redthread are very supportive of continuing professional development and there will be time within this role to complete the training required for professional registration. We offer regular clinical supervision for this role, as we do for all our practitioners.

"I need this don't I, this is an opportunity for me; to be able to work with you, any of you, could change things for me. I'm ready for that. I'm in! You don't need to ask me again - I'm 100% on board, whatever I have to do. I'm doing it."
