

4 May 2021

Dear Applicant,

Thank you for considering a Youth Intervention Practitioner role with Redthread. We are a team of compassionate, collaborative and courageous professionals, committed to empowering young people to change their lives. This clip from BBC News will give you a taster of what we do every day.

Due to internal progression we are currently advertising for two roles, part of our Youth Violence Intervention Programme (YVIP) at either Homerton Hospital (Hackney) or St Georges Hospital (Tooting). As a Youth Intervention Practitioner based in one of the A&E departments you will support young people who are experiencing trauma or tragedy and their families. You'll be part of a team that is fully embedded in the hospital and that is highly valued by clinicians and community partners alike.

To do this well you need to be a people person; passionate about supporting young people, and excited at the prospect of working in a fast-paced and exceptionally busy environment. You'll need a proven ability to work with high risk, vulnerable young people and an understanding of the impact intense, short term work can have.

You must be a strong communicator: as comfortable building a relationship with a young person as you are liaising with our clinical colleagues. You'll be keen to keep learning, seizing training opportunities at Redthread and continuously reflecting upon and improving your practice.

During the Covid-19 outbreak, our teams are still working from the hospitals as we are classed as essential workers. You will need to do shifts at the hospital, as well as working some days from home, depending on the needs of the team and the service.

In return, the successful candidate will receive a competitive salary, a supportive and flexible working environment, excellent staff training and development package and access to a range of employee benefits including; access to enhanced employee assistance programme services, employer pension scheme contribution, enhanced annual leave and family leave entitlements and more.

In this application pack you will find a job description with a person specification including details of the terms and conditions of the post. Please read through the person specification carefully as we will be shortlisting applications using these criteria.

Please note: We are recruiting for two positions, with different contract types, as stated below. During the application process, you will be asked for your site preference.

- St Georges Hospital, Tooting: Fixed term contract to the end of March 2022.
- Homerton Hospital, Hackney: Permanent contract.

How to apply:

If this sounds like the right role and organisation for you, apply by following the link below. This will take you to our online recruitment platform BeApplied, where you will be able to fill in a short application and upload a CV. To ensure we fairly assess applications, CV's will not be reviewed initially.

We will accept applications until 9 am on Monday 17th May 2021.

Apply Now: <https://app.beapplied.com/apply/qlybhbsu8t>

If we receive a high number of applications, we reserve the right to close the advert before the closing date. Therefore, early applications are encouraged.

- 1) Shortlisted candidates will be invited to an online panel discussion with some of our Youth Ambassadors and team. This will take place on Wednesday, 19th May.
- 2) Successful candidates from this round will then have a more formal in person interview at the hospital on Monday 24th May.
- 3) This will be followed in the same week by a final interview with one of our clinical supervisors.

We would like this role to start as soon as possible, and by early July 2021 at the latest. We will provide comprehensive training and induction.

Please find below further details about the role and the work of Redthread, including a copy of the job description and person specification.

Equity, Diversity and Inclusion

Redthread are proud to be an equal opportunities employer that values the contribution each individual makes to our work. We strive to build a diverse and inclusive working environment where all staff feel valued, respected and empowered to be who they are at work.

We aim to achieve a workforce that is diverse regardless of age, disability, neurodiversity, gender identity, marriage and civil partnership status, pregnancy and maternity, race (which includes colour, nationality and ethnic or national origins), religion or belief, sex or sexual orientation or criminal record status and one which reflects the communities and young people we support.

We recognise that people from Black, Asian and minority ethnic communities are under-represented in the charity sector, as are those with disabilities. We welcome and encourage people from these historically excluded groups as well as those who identify as male to apply for this opportunity.

We are committed to taking an inclusive approach to recruitment and selection whilst ensuring there is no discrimination in our processes and that our team and prospective employees are treated fairly, with respect and without bias.

Reasonable adjustments to the interview process can be made to accommodate additional requirements. Applicants are encouraged to highlight any specific adjustments needed to enable participation in the recruitment process. ## Youth Violence Intervention Programme

Redthread empowers young people to thrive as they navigate the challenging transition to adulthood by integrating trauma-informed youth work into the health sector. Whether a young person has been the victim of a stabbing, is seeking support for anxiety, has suffered a sexual assault, or wants to find a new home beyond the reach of a gang, we support them to overcome the challenges they face through our dynamic youth work programmes.

Every year thousands of young people find themselves in hospital A&E departments as the victim of serious youth violence. Redthread's Youth Violence Intervention Programme embeds youth workers in hospitals to intervene with these young people. The teams meet the young patients as soon as they can: in the A&E waiting room, on the ward, or even in the resuscitation bay. We believe that this moment of intense crisis, when the young person is nursing a serious injury in the daunting environment of a busy hospital, often alone, can be a catalyst for pursuing positive change – a 'teachable moment'.

Our teams build rapport with the young people, mentor and advise them, and support them to make long-term positive plans to break away from cycles of violence and offending. Problems include exclusion from education, employment or training, a lack of stability in housing, mental health concerns, unstable relationships and reprimands due to criminal activity. Redthread capitalise on our partnerships to ensure long-term work and change is possible for each young person. The teams make well-judged referrals on their behalf and accompany them to initial meetings to ensure transition is smooth. This work disrupts the cycle that can too easily lead to devastated communities and an exhausted healthcare and justice system.

We have teams in three of London's four Major Trauma Centres and commission a service in the fourth. In 2018 we launched services in Queen's Medical Centre in Nottingham, in Queen Elizabeth and Heartlands Hospitals in Birmingham, and in Homerton Hospital in Hackney. We expanded our service to UCLH in early 2020, and have launched in Croydon University Hospital, University Hospital Lewisham, Birmingham Children's Hospital, Kings Mill Hospital and Queen Elizabeth Hospital, Woolwich this year during the pandemic.

Redthread also provides an additional service in King's College Hospital where two of our youth workers are part of the King's Adolescent Outreach Service (KAOS), which provides support to young people who are admitted to adult wards.

Outside of the hospital, we deliver The Social Switch Programme in partnership with Social Business Catch22- amongst other things, this programme trains frontline professionals to understand and address social media in their work with young people.

"I need this don't I, this is an opportunity for me; to be able to work with you, any of you, could change things for me. I'm ready for that. I'm in! You don't need to ask me again - I'm 100% on board, whatever I have to do. I'm doing it."

What does a Youth Intervention Practitioner do?

Youth Intervention Practitioners use the principles and power of youth work in the setting of a busy emergency department. We meet young people who have experienced injury or trauma while they are in the hospital, and work alongside our clinical colleagues to offer them support at a time when they are feeling very vulnerable. Our first contact with the young person may be to offer them a drink, or to ring their parent, or to check they understand what's happening to them. When their immediate medical needs have been met, we will talk to them some more and explain how we can support them. We will do a safety plan with them before they leave the hospital.

If a young person chooses to engage with us, we will then work with them for eight to twelve weeks on a plan of action that's tailored to their needs. We work closely with the hospital safeguarding team every day and frequently have to escalate concerns. We contact any other agencies who know the young person so we're not duplicating their work, and often arrange to meet them with the young person. We regularly have to strongly advocate for young people, for example with housing agencies. We look for organisations who can work with them towards their longer-term goals and we do relational referrals, transferring the trust that young people have built with us.

Youth Intervention Practitioners hold a caseload of young people, supported by their team leader, and need to be good at recording their work, and discussing and reflecting on their practice. We provide an intensive induction at the start of the role, ongoing training and CPD throughout your time at Redthread and fortnightly clinical supervision. Our Youth Intervention Practitioners have to be courageous and tenacious, and because ours is a short intervention, we don't always see first-hand the impact of our work. But we know from talking to the young people we work with that we make a huge difference.

Our Youth Intervention Practitioners are resilient, able to work calmly in a challenging environment with young people experiencing trauma, injury or exploitation. They have a good level of self-awareness, the ability to reflect on how the work is impacting them, and a willingness to engage in regular clinical supervision that helps them develop their practice and emotional literacy.

"That could have been the worst thing that happened in my life, but you made it one of the best."

A young person's comment on their experience of our service

"I've seen first-hand how our hospitals provide a unique moment to engage with young people. Redthread have helped thousands of Londoners - and I'm proud to support their work."

Sadiq Khan, Mayor of London
