

Dear Applicant,

Thank you for considering a Youth Intervention Practitioner role with Redthread. We are a team of compassionate, collaborative and courageous professionals, committed to empowering young people to change their lives. This animation was created with our Youth Ambassadors and this clip from BBC News will give you a taster of what we do every day.

The past year has seen an increase in demand for our service and we are now looking to appoint two additional Youth Intervention Practitioners, both roles are part of our Youth Violence Intervention Programme (YVIP) in Birmingham and will work across three hospital sites – Queen Elizabeth Hospital (QE), Birmingham Children’s Hospital (BCH) and Heartlands Hospital (HH). The roles are based at QE and will visit and take referrals from the other sites on a regular basis. As a Youth Intervention Practitioner based in the A&E departments you will support young people who are experiencing trauma or tragedy and their families. You’ll be part of a team that is fully embedded in the hospital and that is highly valued by clinicians and community partners alike.

To do this well you need to be a people person; passionate about supporting young people, and excited at the prospect of working in a fast-paced and exceptionally busy environment. You’ll need a proven ability to work with high risk, vulnerable young people and an understanding of the impact intense, short term work can have.

You must be a strong communicator: as comfortable building a relationship with a young person as you are liaising with our clinical colleagues. You’ll be keen to keep learning, seizing training opportunities at Redthread and continuously reflecting upon and improving your practice.

During the Covid-19 outbreak, our teams are still working from the hospitals as we are classed as essential workers. You will need to do shifts the hospital, as well as working some days from home, depending on the needs of the team and the service.

In return, the successful candidate will receive a competitive salary, a supportive and flexible working environment, excellent staff training and development package and access to a range of employee benefits including enhanced annual leave and family leave entitlements, employer pension scheme contribution, access to clinical supervisions, enhanced employee assistance programme services and more.

As this role requires an NHS honorary contract, as well as Redthread benefits, you’ll also have unique access to generous NHS discount and blue light schemes. The offer of employment is conditional on satisfactory pre-employment checks which includes meeting any applicable legal vaccination requirements, unless medically exempt, as set by the CQC.

How to apply:

If this sounds like the right role and organisation for you, apply by following the link below. This will take you to our recruitment platform Beapplied, where you will be able to fill in a short application and upload a CV. To ensure we fairly assess applications, CV’s will not be reviewed initially.

We will accept applications until 10am on Tuesday 28th June 2022.

Apply Now: <https://app.beapplied.com/apply/zgxrfa0f5d>

Please note: If we receive a high number of applications, we reserve the right to close the advert before the closing date. Therefore, early applications are encouraged.

Shortlisted candidates will be invited to interview with the Redthread team. Interviews will take place over the 7th & 8th July 2022. We would like this role to start as soon as possible. We will provide comprehensive training and induction.

Equity, Diversity and Inclusion

Redthread are proud to be an equal opportunities employer that values the contribution each individual makes to our work. We strive to build a diverse and inclusive working environment where all staff feel valued, respected and empowered to be who they are at work.

We aim to achieve a workforce that is diverse regardless of age, disability, neurodiversity, gender identity, marriage and civil partnership status, pregnancy and maternity, race (which includes colour, nationality and ethnic or national origins), religion or belief, sex or sexual orientation or criminal record status and one which reflects the communities and young people we support. We recognise that in particular people from Black and Asian communities and other minoritized ethnic groups are under-represented in the charity sector, as are those with disabilities. We welcome and encourage people from these historically excluded groups as well as those who identify as male to apply for this opportunity.

We are committed to taking an inclusive approach to recruitment and selection whilst ensuring there is no discrimination in our processes and that our team and prospective employees are treated fairly, with respect and without bias.

Reasonable adjustments to the interview process can be made to accommodate additional requirements. Applicants are encouraged to highlight any specific adjustments needed to enable participation in the recruitment process. For more information, please contact applications@redthread.org.uk or call our HR team on 020 3744 6888

Safeguarding

Redthread puts safeguarding at the forefront of all its activities. The successful applicant will demonstrate their firm commitment to effective safeguarding, child protection practices and high professional standards around all safeguarding issues.

Any Employment with Redthread will be subject to the following pre-employment checks prior to your start date:

- a satisfactory police record check to include a Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) check and/or an International Criminal Record Check (If applicable)
- receipt of satisfactory references
- at least 1 face to face interview for frontline roles
- proof of and continuous eligibility to work in the UK

Full details on the pre-employment screening process can be requested from applications@redthread.org.uk

We look forward to receiving your application.

Youth Violence Intervention Programme

Redthread empowers young people to thrive as they navigate the challenging transition to adulthood by integrating trauma-informed youth work into the health sector. Whether a young person has been the victim of a stabbing, is seeking support for anxiety, has suffered a sexual assault, or wants to find a new home beyond the reach of a gang, we support them to overcome the challenges they face through our dynamic youth work programmes.

Every year thousands of young people find themselves in hospital A&E departments as the victim of serious youth violence. Redthread's Youth Violence Intervention Programme embeds youth workers in hospitals to intervene with these young people. The teams meet the young patients as soon as they can: in the A&E waiting room, on the ward, or even in the resuscitation bay. We believe that this moment of intense crisis, when the young person is nursing a serious injury in the daunting environment of a busy hospital, often alone, can be a catalyst for pursuing positive change – a 'teachable moment'.

Our teams build rapport with the young people, mentor and advise them, and support them to make long-term positive plans to break away from cycles of violence and offending. Problems include exclusion from education, employment or training, a lack of stability in housing, mental health concerns, unstable relationships and reprimands due to criminal activity. Redthread capitalise on our partnerships to ensure long-term work and change is possible for each young person. The teams make well-judged referrals on their behalf and accompany them to initial meetings to ensure transition is smooth. This work disrupts the cycle that can too easily lead to devastated communities and an exhausted healthcare and justice system.

We have teams in three of London's four Major Trauma Centres and commission a service in the fourth. In 2018 we launched services in Queen's Medical Centre in Nottingham, in Queen Elizabeth and Heartlands Hospitals Birmingham, and in Homerton Hospital in Hackney. We expanded our service to UCLH in early 2020, and have launched in Croydon University Hospital, University Hospital Lewisham and Queen Elizabeth Hospital, Woolwich this year during the pandemic.

King's Adolescent Outreach Service (KAOS)

On any day, across King's College Hospital sites, at least 20 adult beds are occupied by young people aged 16 to 24. These young people have specific medical, emotional, legal and social needs which we know from user feedback are not being met. The KAOS team help support the medical and surgical teams on adult wards to care for young people in an age appropriate way.

KAOS was launched at King's in April 2018. It comprises of a core team of two lead clinicians, two youth workers and a wider team of forty health care professionals from different backgrounds, all with an interest in optimising care for young people. The service operates in working hours and not at weekends. This is an exciting opportunity to help develop a much-needed service for vulnerable young people.

Outside of the hospital, we deliver The Social Switch Programme in partnership with Social Business Catch22- amongst other things, this programme trains frontline professionals to understand and address social media in their work with young people.

"I need this don't I, this is an opportunity for me; to be able to work with you, any of you, could change things for me. I'm ready for that. I'm in! You don't need to ask me again - I'm 100% on board, whatever I have to do. I'm doing it."

A young person's reaction to being introduced to the service

"I've seen first-hand how our hospitals provide a unique moment to engage with young people. Redthread have helped thousands of Londoners - and I'm proud to support their work."

Sadiq Khan, Mayor of London, June 2019

What do our Youth Intervention Practitioner team do?

Youth Intervention Practitioners use the principles and power of youth work in the setting of a busy emergency department. We meet young people who have experienced injury or trauma while they are in the hospital, and work alongside our clinical colleagues to offer them support at a time when they are feeling very vulnerable. Our first contact with the young person may be to offer them a drink, or to ring their parent, or to check they understand what's happening to them. When their immediate medical needs have been met, we will talk to them some more and explain how we can support them. We will do a safety plan with them before they leave the hospital.

If a young person chooses to engage with us, we will then work with them for eight to twelve weeks on a plan of action that's tailored to their needs. We work closely with the hospital safeguarding team every day and frequently have to escalate concerns. We contact any other agencies who know the young person so we're not duplicating their work, and often arrange to meet them with the young person. We regularly have to strongly advocate for young people, for example with housing agencies. We look for organisations who can work with them towards their longer-term goals and we do relational referrals, transferring the trust that young people have built with us.

Youth Intervention Practitioners hold a caseload of young people, supported by their team leader, and need to be good at recording their work, and discussing and reflecting on their practice. We provide an intensive induction at the start of the role, ongoing training and CPD throughout your time at Redthread and fortnightly clinical supervision. Our Youth Intervention Practitioners have to be courageous and tenacious, and because ours is a short intervention, we don't always see first-hand the impact of our work. But we know from talking to the young people we work with that we make a huge difference.

Our Youth Intervention Practitioners and Team Leaders are resilient, able to work calmly in a challenging environment with young people experiencing trauma, injury or exploitation. They have a good level of self-awareness, the ability to reflect on how the work is impacting them, and a willingness to engage in regular clinical supervision that helps them develop their practice and emotional literacy.

"That could have been the worst thing that happened in my life, but you made it one of the best."
